

RÉSUMÉ

Aita, M., Héon, M., Lampron, A., Dupuis, F. et Le May, S. (2014).

Professional codevelopment groups for the promotion of nursing research in clinical settings.

Dans Journal of Nursing Education and Practice, 5(1).
doi:10.5430/jnep.v5n1p137

The active participation of nurses in research activities is desirable in clinical settings. This manuscript highlights the Professional Codevelopment Groups (PCGs) as an opportunity for clinical nurses to be the leading instigators of research projects relevant to their nursing practice, emphasizing another facet of their professional role in clinical settings.